BABBITT TALKS AT WILD LIFE SHOW

TELLS OF PRIMEVAL MICHIGAN 60 YEARS AGO

The following story taken from the Detroit News will be of interest to our many readers who know Rube Babbitt:

A picture of old time Michigan with her primeval forests, her swarms of wild pigeons darkening the sun, her streams echoing with the shouts of the loggers, and the days when wolves howled around the settlers' cabins at night, and a housewife had to go 90 miles for sugar, is presented by R. S. (Rube) Babbitt, the State's oldest conservation officer.

Today Mr. Babbitt is in charge of the State's exhibit of predatory animal pelts at the Detroit Outdoor Life, Motor Boat & Sportsman Show at Convention Hall. He is distinguished by his olive drab uniform, his beard, his slouch hat and the cigar protruding from his lips. After spending his boyhood among the Chippewa Indians, he became a market fisherman, log driver, guide, professional hunter, and finally, in 1907, the protector of Crawford County's deer. He will be 70 next month.

"Sometimes I think I must be dreaming," he said. "Nothing could be more different than Michigan of 60 years ago compared to what it is now."

Pines in All Directions
"When we moved to Grayling in 1873 there wasn't another family in miles—nothing but pines in all directions. Back in those days there weren't any lumbermen even, because the railroad had not pushed that far north."

Once a month Mr. Babbitt's father went to Bay City for provisions, a distance of 90 miles. Any time fresh meat was needed, a bear or a deer could be killed within a few rods of the Babbitt cabin. As a boy, his only companions, in addition to the members of his family, were the friendly Chippewas who pushed down from the Straits to trap fish and martin.

"In the spring it was a great sight to watch the Indians go back north," he said. "They traveled on foot, of course. Their deer and bear meat was wrapped in skins, and pulled by their dogs. Many of the boys carried bows and arrows, for guns were relatively scarce."

Fished for Grayling
From 1875 to 1881 Mr. Babbitt and his father fished grayling for the Chicago market. This fish, which is all but extinct in Michigan, was caught by hook and line in large quantities, and packed in barrels. In Chicago they were deemed such a delicacy that the Babbitts received 25 cents a pound for their catches.

"Along the Manistee River during my lumbering days I often visited a big pigeon rookery of about 30 square miles. Literally millions of birds were in this roost. We used to shake down the squabs by the hundred and carry them away in sacks. Suddenly the pigeons disappeared."

Mr. Babbitt declares that the stories of early settlers being attacked by timber wolves are untrue. He has never heard of a single authenticated instance where wolves made an effort to harm human beings.

Wild Animals Flee
"Often while sleeping in the woods at night I've heard wolves a few rods away. Several times I've run into a pack of seven or eight—all half starved, too—but they always ran when they saw me. The same with bears. There is no wild animal in Michigan that will attack a human being without provocation."

Despite his age, Mr. Babbitt travels 20 miles a day in the winter on snow shoes, and greater distances in the summer, when he patrols the trout streams. When he is far from civilization, he will curl up in a blanket and sleep on the bare ground. He is exposed to all sorts of weather—snow, sleet and rain—and sometimes, does not have opportunity to change wet clothing for several days.

"Yet, I've never been sick a day in my life," he said. "It's the fresh air that does it. So long as a man is outdoors he doesn't have to worry much about his health."

SENIOR PLAY

Work on the Senior play "Clarence" is advancing very rapidly. The cast has definitely been chosen and Mr. Cushman is well pleased in the way they turn out for practice and the interest that is taken by them. There will also be a couple of very humorous comedies, put on between acts that will be well worth seeing.

The date has not been definitely set as yet but it will be held sometime during the last of May.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN ANSWERS LAST CALL

Charles Turner, one of the last of the veterans of the Civil War residing in our midst, passed away at Mercy Hospital last Saturday afternoon of influenza at the ripe old age of 82 years.

Mr. Turner, who was born in Eaton Rapids, had resided in Grayling for the last 40 years. For some time he was employed for Salling Hanson company at their electric power house later taking a similar position for the Grayling Electric company, giving up his labors a few years ago. Mr. Turner was always on the job and was highly dependable at all times.

As a soldier of Uncle Sam's Army he was a member of Company C, 8th Regiment of the Michigan Cavalry Volunteers and served from August 26, 1864 until June 6, 1865, being honorably discharged from service on the latter date at Pulaski, Tenn. There are but few of the veterans of that conflict left, the ranks having been pretty well broken in the past few years. However their memory will be cherished for a long time to come.

Grayling American Legion Post No. 106 took charge of the funeral, the remains lying in state at their hall from Monday morning until the services which were held that afternoon at the hall. Rev. J. W. Greenwood recited a prayer and gave a short sermon, paying due respect to the old comrade.

The remains were laid to rest in Elmwood cemetery, the following members of the Post acting as pall bearers and marching in the funeral cortege: Dr. C. G. Clippert, Emil Giegling, Alfred Hanson and Harry Sorenson. Wilfred Laurant carried the colors, Alvin LaChapelle the Post banner, Clarence Johnson and Earle Hewitt acting as color guards. Post Commander Harry Hemmingson was in charge. At Elmwood cemetery while the casket was being lowered Harold McNeven softly blew taps and another of the boys in blue was laid to rest.

Mr. Turner is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Humphreys of Jackson, who came to see her father during his illness but was unable to come for the funeral.

The afternoon of the funeral the local business places were closed during the hours of service in respect to the old comrade.

HERB BUILDS LOG CABIN

Herb Gothro visited relatives in Cleveland last fall and while there saw a number of miniature log cabins, priced at $25 each. He decided that he could build one that would beat them a mile.

Well, he did it. Working evenings all winter he has accomplished his object and now has on exhibit at the barber shop as fine a miniature log cabin as one could hope to see.

The logs are of white pine and all picked to fit true and snug and with ends pyramided at the corners. There are a number of windows and porches front and back. It is nicely painted and varnished and electric lighted. It is a very clever piece of work and is attracting a lot of attention.

DON'T BE TOO LATE

JUNIORS HAVE FINE PARTY

The Junior prom of 1929 is now history and is a bright page in the record of the class. Beautiful were the decorations of the big gym and excellent the music and delightful the associations of the ballroom.

The decorating committee of which Margaret Warren was the chairman had done their work well. Streamers of delicate green tint and white, the Senior class colors, hung from the railings of the balcony and at the entrances were gracefully draped, and above was a ceiling of the same colors. In the center was an illuminated dome, beneath which was a wheel of variegated colors adding attractiveness to the scheme of decoration. A molding of purple surrounded the walls near the ceiling. Wicker furniture, rugs and other home-like articles made the ballroom cozy, comfortable and attractive.

Pair of Jacks orchestra of Big Rapids were seated beneath a canopied porch of a design that carried out the color and architectural scheme of the decorations. The orchestra consisted of eight pieces and their music was very pleasing and entertaining.

Early in the evening there was a grand march led by Miss Grace Parker, president of the class, and Elmer Feintgn, Stanley Stephan, president of the Seniors and Miss Irene Randolph.

The young men and women of the Junior class and their guests of the evening—the Seniors—all looked pretty in their party clothes. There was a good attendance of invited guests and altogether the party was a very enjoyable one. Young ladies served punch and wafers for refreshments.

Favors consisting of paper hats were distributed during the evening. They were of almost every color and description and caused a lot of merriment. Confetti and streamers were in profusion and gave the finishing touches to a charming party.

Among the out of town guests were the following: Miss Martha Bidvia, Matt Bidvia, Julian Smith, Julian Wilson, Charles Borck, William Liano and Earl Kolvenen, Detroit; Miss Shirley McNeven, Miss Dorothy Jones, Louis Garrison, Bay City; Miss Sadie Turcott, Miss Cecelia Shaeffer, Dudleigh Rueggseggar, Boyne City; Miss Cora Lewis, Miss Violet Shipp, Cecil Lewis, Amos Schruer and Percy Anderson, Gaylord; Miss Arla Ewalt, Mackinaw City; Edward Vaughan, Alpena; Ellis Daugherty, Roscommon; Miss Edwina VanDyne, Miss Christine Taylor, Harry Taylor, Blair Dusenbury, Edgar Thompson and Emery Johnson, Mt. Pleasant.

FULL HOUSE GREET TALKING PICTURES

The Rialto theatre dedicated their new Vitaphone apparatus first of the week beginning Sunday night. The offering was Dolores Costello in "Tenderloin." Long before the hour of opening the crowd began to arrive and by the time the first ray of light was projected upon the silver screen every seat was taken and many people were standing. Preceding the feature was a very amusing comedy.

The audience sat in amazement when the feature began as the music from the Vitaphone's full orchestra pealed forth from the amplifiers, while the picture was being shown on the screen. And as the characters appeared and they started to talk one could easily imagine that there were real people playing before them. The silent drama has had its day and no longer will they be complete without speaking and singing. The performance was great and gives the public a sample of some of the fine things that are to come to them in the future.

Manager Geo. Olson has booked for May 5 and 6 "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." This is one of the best selling novels now brot to the living screen. May 7 and 8 will be shown William Haines, Joan Crawford and Karl Dane in "The Duke Steps Out." May 9 and 10 will be shown "The Lion and the Mouse," with May McAvoy, Lionel Barrymore, William Collier, Jr., and Alex B. Francis.

Excellent talking picture features are being booked for the entire summer season and patrons coming from outside communities will always find the theatre showing good, strong programs.

ARTICHOKE CROP WAS SUCCESS

A. B. FAILING REPORTS 15 BU. FROM ONE-QUARTER BU. SEED

Fifteen bushels of artichokes from one-quarter bushel of seed is considered a great success. A. B. Failing of Beaver Creek township reports that that was the result of a test crop that he put in last spring.

He says that he was furnished a half bushel of seed by the Michigan Central agricultural department and out of this he was able to recover about one-quarter bushel of plantable seed and even that was poor. The crop developed well and was left in the ground all winter. And, besides the crop of tubers there was a crop of stalks that grew several feet in height and which proved excellent for stock food. Cattle eat every bit of the stalk and Mr. Failing believes it is just as good if not better than corn for ensilage.

Mr. Failing will increase his planting this year. Last fall he started a small test planting and this spring he planted another area about equal to test the relative values of fall and spring planting. Combined this area is less than a half acre. Besides this he intends to put in about three acres this spring.

He says he still has a few bushels of selected seed that he would sell. The cost is $3 per bushel. It looks as the artichokes offer a crop that should be a great success in this region. They provide a double crop—tubers and stalks. Both are excellent stock foods. The tubers are when ripe, sweet and full of sugar and just as soon as enough acreage can be developed it should provide a valuable sugar root.

Elmer Ostrander also planted a quantity last spring for experiment and reports excellent success. He says that he will not take out his crop this spring but will leave them in the ground to grow another season.

BEAVER COLONY AT ELECTRIC DAM

Beavers have landed at the electric light pond and are making themselves very much at home. That's just as one would expect them to do for they are great home builders. George Clise the engineer at the power house says there are several of them and they already have been busy building their home and providing poplar branches for food. Mr. Clise brot a popular hint to this office about five feet long that had been cut off by their sharp teeth and which also showed where they had made a meal of some of the bark.

These animals are very clever wood cutters and builders. Whenever higher water is needed in order to make a pool deep enough for their needs they build one from branches and mud. They cut the branches and sink them to the bottom of the stream. Then they carry mud upon their wide flat tails which they also use for patting down the mud in order to pack it tight. And when the dam is completed they watch it with the shrewdness of an engineer and wherever even a tiny leak appears it is quickly repaired. Bark covered branches are gathered and sunk to the bottom of the stream where they are weighted down with heavy weights to keep them from floating away. The bark from these are used for food.

The beaver is an industrious animal and also very shy and at the least sound a quick plunge is made into deep water. However they also soon become accustomed to people when they find they will not be molested. Mr. Clise says that the colony at the pond are already becoming accustomed to his presence and go about their work as tho they were alone. However, he says, he notices that they keep one eye on him all the time.

There is a colony of beaver near Waters and it is believed by some that the one at the Electric dam is a part of it. Beaver at one time were very plentiful in Michigan but for some time seemed to be quite scarce. Now, however, they seem to be coming back strong. Like with other wild animals and birds the regrowth of our forests and the keeping out of fires give promise of the repopulation of Michigan's once abundant wild life.

ALEX JEFFERS GETS PAVING CONTRACT

Alex Jeffers of Saginaw was low bidder on the paving project for trunk line highway U.S.-27. His bid was $43,746.14. Other bids were $50,181.17, $54,529.07, $57,561.07. Mr. McArdle's bid was $55,586.23. The latter is now engaged in putting down the pavement on Main street.

A. L. Burridge and Mr. Green of the State highway department were present to receive the bids and they say that there is no doubt but that Mr. Jeffers will be awarded the contract and rate him as one of the best contractors in Michigan. His equipment for the work is of the very latest. Mr. Jeffers says he is anxious to begin the work at once as he has another contract awaiting him in the southern part of the state. The clay there is so heavy and wet that they are unable to begin the work until it dries out. Here the soil and other conditions are alright for paving at once. The job consists of 2,204 miles and extends from the golf course to the north end of the aviation field.

Mr. Jeffers also was low bidder on the intersection of the trunk line and Michigan avenue. Mr. McArdle was second low bidder. It is understood that Mr. Jeffers will withdraw in favor of Mr. McArdle thus to enable the latter to complete the intersection while he is on the Main street job.

MRS. MARY COLLADAY SUC-CUMBS AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Mrs. Mary Colladay, grandmother of Miss Fern Armstrong, passed away at their home Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock after being ill a week.
The elderly lady had contracted a bad cold, which quickly developed into pneumonia, and with her age was hard to overcome, she passing away Tuesday evening. As she had always been so well and active her sudden passing came as a severe shock to her family and friends.

Mrs. Colladay was born in Hamilton, Ontario, February 25th, 1853, and came to Grayling in 1911 from Lewiston where the family had resided for about 20 years. The deceased's husband Hiram Colladay, of many friends in their bereaved passed away a number of years ago since which time Mrs. Colladay had made her home among relatives. She was the mother of three daughters,

Paulina, Mable and Elizabeth, the former two having passed away. The latter is now Mrs. E. U. Carpenter of Detroit.

Mrs. Colladay had helped to raise all of her grandchildren. She came to make her home with the Armstrongs following the death of her daughter Mrs. Paulina Armstrong and to care for her granddaughter Miss Fern and had been a member of the household since that time. Another daughter Mrs. Mable McKenna passed away leaving a family of daughters, who were also cared for by some time
by Mrs. Colladay.

Hosts of friends to whom Mrs. Col-laday had endeared herself deeply regret her demise and grieve with the family in their loss. She had many fine qualities, was patient and kind and most of her time was spent in her home looking after the comforts of others. She had been a member of Grayling Chapter O. E. S. for years, an organization in which she took a lot of pride.

The funeral of the deceased is being held this afternoon with services at Michelson Memorial church, beginning at 1:30 o'clock and the remains will be taken on the afternoon train to Lapeer for burial Friday.

tendance at the funeral.

Surviving besides her daughter and granddaughter Miss Fern are six other grandchildren, two great grandchildren, two brothers and two sis-

A Little Bit of Hell (In poetry)
(Clipped from Plain Talk)
Never, Never Land
In the never, never land

Lives a dull, unhappy band!
Never, never plays with fire,
Never rouses the policeman's ire.
Never, never sing or dance,
Never play at games of chance.
Never touch the cup that cheers,
Never think of wine or beers.
In the never, never land,
All the nicest things are banned.

A Little Bit of Heaven (In poetry)
Ever, Ever Land
In the ever, ever land,
Lives a fine, courageous band!
Ever, ever to aspire,
Ever reach up to the higher.
Ever, ever laugh and sing,
Ever love the biggest thing.
Ever give the love that cheers,
Ever stop another's tears.
In the ever, ever land,
Of the highest we demand.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO.

Thursday, May 3, 1913

Born, May 1st, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank May, a son.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. David Montour Sunday, April 29th, a daughter.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ahman a son, April 27th.

Word is received from T. W. Hanson who was in San Francisco during the quake. He escaped uninjured but lost all of his baggage.

W. F. Benkleman took a flying business trip last week, taking in central and eastern Michigan and a nice stretch of Canada, returning last Monday.

Mr. Geo. E. Pomeroy of Toledo, who owns Simpson Lake came up to open the season trout fishing accompanied by his friend Roy Brooks of Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. Pomeroy will probably not be here again this season as he is about to start on an extended journey to Europe.

H. C. Holbrook and family have moved back home from Vassar where they have been for the past year, having decided that Grayling is the best place yet. Mrs. May Stewart and the baby came with them, and will remain for awhile, till she has recovered her strength, and in the meantime "Grandma" can take care of the girl.

Last Friday afternoon the happy home of John Stephan, in the eastern part of the town, was stricken with sadness by the drowning of their little boy, Norman, a little less than two years old.

Our compositor or the "Devil" gave the Jens Sorenson baby, last week, to Jens Michelson, which is not fair, so we return the little one to its proper home, with apologies for the mistake.

Died at his home in his village, May 1st, George A. Williams, aged 68 years.

FAST CROWDS VISIT WILD LIFE SHOWS LAST WEEK

Michigan's interest in her out-of-doors was demonstrated by the tens of thousands who visited the recent sportsmen shows in Detroit and Grand Rapids.

Yarns were swapped, bigger and better fish stories told, and many new ones invented for the occasion. The conservation department's exhibits of live game and predatory animals, birds, and fish attracted much attention. A family of Michigan beaver swam, dove, and peeled bark for the edification of the crowds. Every day three black bear cubs put on no-round-limit boxing and wrestling bouts. Hundreds of game fish—trout, bass, and blue-gills,—sporting tantalizing colors and pounds behind plate glass, safe from the predatory glances of ardent fishermen.

Forest fire control, forestry, game refuges, geology, pollution, and predatory animal control with its exhibit of furs all came in for their share of attention. Special interest was shown in the displays of the land economic survey and law enforcement divisions of the department.

A particularly noticeable occurrence at the shows were the number of "dads" who were to be seen displaying their knowledge of the outdoors to the younger generation; a promising omen for the future of Michigan's open spaces.

Nine Years of Suffering Ended By New Konjola

Grateful Man Had Been A Victim Of Rheumatism And Stomach Trouble Until New Medicine Relieved Him

MR. JOE BOCHINSKI

"Konjola surely is a wonderful medicine," said Mr. Joe Bochinski, 130 Monroe street, Saginaw. "For nine years I searched vainly for relief from stomach trouble and rheumatism. My food did not digest, gas formed and my stomach bloated. Suffering followed every meal. Rheumatism settled in my legs, hips, arms and shoulders. My poor condition worried me."

"What a pleasant surprise Konjola gave me. My stomach was corrected, food digests perfectly and gas and bloating have vanished. Rheumatism has been relieved wonderfully, and I feel immeasurably better all over. I certainly owe a debt of gratitude to Konjola."

Konjola is sold in Grayling, Mich., at the Mac & Gidley drug store, and by the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Abyssinian Jews Only

Jewish Mountaineers

The only Jewish mountaineers in the world are said to live in Abyssinia. These tribesmen, Falashas as they call themselves, inhabit the highlands of what was once part of the ancient kingdom of Shihah, the north of the Negus country.

The Falashas have a typical Jewish appearance, but lack most of the conventional habits and attributes of that race. Neither they nor their ancestors have ever engaged in trade. They are trappers and rarely mingle with the Abyssinians in the towns and villages of the lowland.

They adhere to the Biblical traditions of the ancestors, practice the usual rites and perform a rude imitation of the passover ceremonies. They have neither temples nor rabbis.

In the fastnesses of their mountains they preserve in a quaint mahogany casket a venerable parchment copy of the pentateuch, which their chiefs allege came down to them direct from King Solomon through the Queen of Sheba.

During the coronation of Ha Tafari as emperor of Abyssinia, representatives of the Falasha tribes presented to the new monarch a copy of the manuscripts which King Solomon sent the Queen of Sheba before they were married. These are said to contain the earliest known love letters from a monarch to his royal consort.

Peace on Earth Belief of an Old French Race

The Basques of the Pyrenees section of France are an old race which has outlived the Roman empire, the Dark Ages, feudalism and monarchy. They are thrifty, hard-working farmers and fishermen with a simple system of very local democratic self-government. They are strong, simple, warm-hearted, physically sound and comely, and above all life-loving. While other races and social organizations around them have risen and fallen, the Basques have had a king, a tyrant, an aristocracy or a revolution. They seem to be very religious, and although they are hot-blooded and impulsive, they have never taken a single aggressive step against a neighbor in warfare.—Ray F. Hendrix.

Light Harmful to Medicine

Light which is so helpful to sick persons does not do their medicines any good. In fact so many of these deteriorate upon exposure to light that druggists have authorized a special study to discover containers which will protect their medicines and chemicals from the harmful light. In some cases light rays seem to preserve the medical virtues of a preparation, but in others they are definitely harmful. The changes which patients notice in the colors of medicines is usually indicative of change in the medicinal properties. The green color of some iron preparations changes to an unpleasant brown. Bright yellow ointments turn brown or green. Tinctures and fluid extracts made from vegetable drugs turn a dark color and deposit sediments. Serums and other biological products lose their ability to cure or prevent disease.

Fly Fishing in 200 A. D.

We are indebted to the Missouri Fish and Game News for the discovery that fly fishing is far from a modern sport. In the Second century of the Christian era, a Greek, Aelian, wrote as follows:

"I have heard of a Macedonian way of catching fish, and it is this: They fasten red wool around a hook and fit on to the wool two feathers which grow under a cock's wattles and are in color like wax. Their rod is six feet long, and the line is the same length. Then they throw their snare, and the fish, attracted and maddened by the color, comes up, thinking from the pretty sight to get a dainty mouthful; when, however, it opens its jaws, it is caught by the hook and enjoys a bitter repast, a captive."

Appointments by President

The President appoints, without consent of the congress, his private secretary and the librarian of congress. The President, with the concurrence of the senate, appoints about 10,000 persons a year. These include ambassadors, consuls, judges, collectors of customs, cabinet officials, district attorneys, marshals, territorial governors, postmasters of certain classes, treasurer of the United States, controller of the currency, superintendent of mints, commissioner of internal revenue, interstate commerce commissioners, mines, pensions, patents, Indian affairs, all bureau chiefs, all military and naval officers, and many others.

Equal Opportunity to Lose

"I thought you rather liked Mr. Crasher. You know he believes in equality for women."

"Yes," said Miss Cayenne. "He goes too far in that idea to suit me. When he took me to the opera he insisted on matching coins to determine which of us was to pay for the tickets and the supper afterward."

Absolutely Noiseless

Elderly Gentleman (wishing to rent room)—Yes, this room pleases me, but I notice there's some sort of a manufacturing plant in the rear facing the alley; doesn't it make considerable noise?

Landlady—Oh, no, sir; not at all. That's a felt slipper factory.

Your MODEL T FORD

is still a good car

THE Model T Ford led the motor industry for twenty years because of its sturdy worth, reliability and economy. Those same reasons continue to make it a good car.

As a matter of fact, nearly one-fourth of all the automobiles in use today are Model T Fords. Millions of them can be driven two, three and even five more years with reasonable care and proper replacements. Figures show that the average life is seven years.

Don't sacrifice your Model T, therefore, but take it to the Ford dealer and have him estimate on the cost of putting it in A1 shape. A very small expenditure may be the means of giving you thousands of miles of additional service.

For a labor charge of $20 to $25 you can have your motor and transmission completely overhauled. This price includes new bearings, reboring cylinders and any other work necessary. Parts are extra.

Valves can be ground and carbon removed for $3 to $4. The cost of tightening all main bearings is only $6. The labor charge for overhauling the front axle is $4.50 to $5—rear axle assembly, $5.75 to $7.

New universal joint will be installed for a labor charge of $3. Brake shoes relined for $1.50. Rear spring and perches rebushed for $1.75. The cost of overhauling the starting motor is $3. A labor charge of approximately $2.50 covers the overhauling of the generator.

It will pay you, therefore, to see your Ford dealer and have him put your Model T in good running order. By doing so you will protect and maintain the investment you have in your car and get months and years of reliable transportation at a very low cost per mile.

Near the shores of Lake Huron these birds are occasionally seen. Just what these birds could be doing in this region isn't quite clear; especially their being at Twin Lakes. Who knows but that that may be an omen of many twins to come to Crawford county this year.

Committees almost without exception are committing wads of bills to dark crypts in the legislative mausoleum and are reporting out only bills of major importance, so that many pet measures will be lost in the shuffle. Of most importance during the week was the passage by the House of the budget bills making appropriations for the coming two years. Strenuous efforts of Rep. Chas. DeLand and others to reduce the total of the appropriations were unavailing, the body of the House standing by the report and the recommendations of the ways and means committee of the House. Several amendments were voted down and on its final passage only twelve members voted against the bill, these being Calvert, Goodwine, MacRae, Culver, DeLand, MacDonald, Holbeck, Ate Dykstra, Holland, Nichols and Gillett. The bill carries $28,334,896 for 1930 and $27,887,144 for 1931. The sum of $16,392,196 is to be raised by general taxation in 1930 and $15,934,444 in 1931, the balance coming from other sources such as license funds and fees. This will make the state tax rate slightly higher than for the past two years, but there is also an increase in the assessment value of the state, which will help keep the rate down. The bill now goes to the governor, who may or may not approve of it as a whole, although it follows the line of his recommendations.

The Turner bill appropriating two millions for the aid of heavily taxed school districts has been recalled from the governor's desk by the Senate and it is said will be hooked up with Senator Lennon's proposition for the taxation of cigarettes, which has been relieved from oblivion in a senate committee, in an effort to aid the poorer districts.

The Senate has concurred in a House resolution condemning cigarette advertising showing women and young people smoking.

A determined effort to declare the ice business a public utility was frustrated in the House Thursday. The bill has been lobbied for in clever fashion, but a motion to strike out all after the enacting clause was carried by a vote of 40 to 3, which automatically kills the bill.

The Senate Thursday tabled the Condon bill which would make insanity grounds for divorce.

The codification of the state fishing laws sponsored by the department of conservation has passed the Senate and will come up in the House next week. A proposition for a rod license was stricken out, but the rod license for trout fishing is retained.

A joint resolution offered by Rep. John Gillett having for its purpose the redistricting of the state, an increase in the membership of the House and the limiting of Wayne county to 20 per cent of the entire representation meets with bitter opposition from the Wayne county delegation and from many out-state members. The resolution was snowed under.

Rep. Feighner's bill defining a newspaper as applied to the publication of legal notices passed the House Thursday, after being amended to apply only to newspapers printed in the English language, and to exempt from the terms of the bill newspapers which had been established and been published continuously for a period of more than two years.

The judiciary committee of the House has reported out the death penalty bill sent over by the Senate, without changes and it has been placed on general orders. The bill carries a referendum clause requiring a vote of the people of the state at the November election in 1930. There is a strong sentiment in the House to strike out the referendum and that may be done, although there is some doubt if the Senate would concur in the amendment. Proponents in the House claim that if the death penalty is needed at all it is needed now and they are willing to accept the responsibility of passing the bill and giving it immediate effect. There will likely be some sharp shooting when the bill comes up on general orders.

A proposed tax on screen advertising in movie houses was killed in the House Wednesday by a vote of 79 to 12.

Bills prohibiting hunting on Sunday in St. Clair and Sanilac counties have passed both houses.

There is a possibility of the state securing a refund of several millions of dollars from the federal government in the matter of inheritance taxes. Bills are on the way through the mill to comply with the federal proposition to refund 80% of the money which the government has collected during the past two years.

Rep. Bob Wardell, wet leader in the House, Wednesday introduced a resolution memorializing congress to call a constitutional convention to repeal the 18th amendment. Wisconsin has already done this, but it takes two-thirds of the states to force congress to act.

The Stevens bill revising the election code, the result of the work of the special commission appointed last year by Governor Green, and which recently passed the Senate, was reported out Friday morning by the election committee of the House, with some slight amendments. The most important feature of the bill is a provision for permanent registration of voters in all cities of more than 5000 population and providing machinery for keeping the registration lists alive and clear of deadwood.

A measure which has passed both houses provides stiff penalties for removing or altering any serial numbers on automobiles.

A conservation measure which has passed both houses makes a maximum penalty of $100 and three months in jail for willful or careless starting of fires in grass or forests, and for malicious starting of such fires whereby lives are endangered. The felony clause is attached, carrying a possible prison term of ten years.

The legislative investigation of the reasons for a recent price drop in beans is evidently having some effect in some quarters. At least it is noticed that the price has taken a decided up turn. But that doesn't stop the investigation, which may result in some new facts and figures being produced that may be interesting to the bean industry.

The Harnly bible reading bill, introduced early in the session, and which has been a hot topic of discussion and controversy ever since, went down to defeat in the House Tuesday by the close vote of 44 to 46. Five members declined to vote on the question. The persistent lobbying for the bill by a paid lobbyist from outside the state is claimed by some members to have been responsible for the defeat of the measure and Mr. Harnly is inclined to agree with this opinion.

The Senate is still holding up the Hartman mill tax bill and the House has taken the idea of first acting on House measures before taking up consideration of Senate measures. It is hoped that this condition may be ironed out over the week-end so that no controversy will interfere with bringing the work of the session to a close within the next two weeks.

PROCLAMATION

Michigan Forest Week—Arbor Day

More than ever before the people of Michigan are interested in maintaining the State's natural resources. The forests of the State comprise one of its renewable resources. The forests shelter game animals, regulate the flow of streams and assure cool shady waters. They attract our own people and those of surrounding states to the outdoors by their beauty. They are an asset of rapidly growing value to Michigan's recreational industry.

It is usual to proclaim a definite date for the observance of Arbor Day on which we may consider the value of trees and plan ceremonies to accompany tree planting. In addition to Arbor Day it has been the custom in the last few years to join with other states in the celebration of American Forest Week. While American Forest Week has been discontinued this year, forests and forestry are so important to Michigan that this State cannot afford to let the spring go by without the observance of a special week of thought and action in behalf of trees and the restoration of our forest wealth and attractiveness.

The week beginning May 5th is designated as Michigan Forest Week, and Friday, May 10th, as Arbor Day in Michigan. All citizens are called upon to help in the observance of these occasions, and are urged to resolve both to promote the forest interest of Michigan and to use diligence in the preservation and protection of our wooded areas.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this sixteenth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine and of the Commonwealth the ninety-third.

Fred W. Green,

Governor.

By the Governor:
John S. Haggerty,
Secretary of State.

MICHIGAN RESIDENTS AWAKENING TO IMPORTANCE OF STATE AS MAGNET

Indications are that Michigan is on the threshold of its greatest tourist and resort year. All gauges which the East Michigan Tourist Association uses to measure the trend point emphatically to a big year.

Residents of Detroit especially seem to be awakening to the importance and appeal of Michigan's recreational, scenic and historical advantages, according to the East Michigan Tourist Association. A single advertisement in each of the three daily newspapers on Saturday, April 20, resulted in a deluge of inquiries that reflected the increasing interest of residents of that area.

Officials of the East Michigan Tourist association believe that development of Michigan as a vacationland will be hastened through an appreciation on the part of Michigan residents of what Michigan has to offer.

STATEWIDE CAR TEST

A statewide car test, sponsored by the Michigan Safety Council, will take place during the 51 days from May 10 to June 30. This test will include all automotive vehicles in Michigan, which will be inspected for safety equipment including brakes, lights, steering and sound signals.

In conducting this second great safety campaign within a period of one year it is the purpose of the safety council to encourage civilian interest and influence in promoting the test in connection with traffic departments and officials in every community in the state.

A campaign of education on safe driving will be a part of the safety council's plans, stressing the tremendous cost in human life and financial destruction of automotive equipment through carelessness in operating automobiles upon the streets and highways of Michigan.

Last year's test revealed that approximately every fourth car on the road was defective. During that campaign, which admittedly was pioneering and experimental, a total of 78,9 of inspectable cars were inspected. By lengthening the duration of the test this year it is hoped that every bit of automotive equipment in the state may be brought under inspection.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM FORMER GRAYLING BOY

Following is an interesting letter written to Mrs. Frank Jennings from her grandson, Marion Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shaw, who formerly made his home in Grayling:

Enroute Honolulu, T. H. to San Francisco, Cal., April 9, 1929.

Dear Grandma:
I got your letter and a half dozen papers in Honolulu the other day. There was six weeks mail waiting for me so I got a lot of the papers all in a bunch and I was sure glad to get them even though they were a month or so old. I'm going to subscribe to the Avalanche right after my next payday so I can keep posted on what's happening in Grayling.

I only had one evening in Honolulu so I didn't have time to try to locate Dave Christie but I wrote a letter to him and as I will be passing that way again in about 2 months I may get to see him then.

I've been assigned to regular duty on the Chaumont as ship's librarian and chaplain's yeoman. I have very little work to do in the library and not too much for the chaplain so I have plenty of time to read and study and loaf around.

The Chaumont is due to arrive in San Diego day after tomorrow and we go from there to San Pedro and then to San Francisco and to the Navy Yard where we will stay until the 10th of June.

The regular run of the Chaumont is from San Francisco to San Pedro, San Diego, Honolulu, T. H., Guam, M. I., Manila, P. I., Hong Kong, Shanghai, Chefoo, Tsingtau, Tokyo, and other Chinese ports and return by Manila, Guam and Honolulu. The round trip makes quite a journey—a matter of almost 25 thousand miles and it's some trip. I'm getting so accustomed to being out at sea—we've been out at sea for almost 20 days straight now except for a stop at Honolulu and Guam—that I would rather be under way than tied up at the dock. Rough weather doesn't seem to bother me at all and my appetite stays pretty good—I weighed 160 lbs. the other day.

We are getting near to sunny California so I've started using one blanket to sleep under now. For the last two months it's been almost too hot to sleep with covers.

Tell Steve and the rest to write or send me their addresses so I can write to them.

Love, Marion

EASE OF BUYING

FOR INSTANCE, in this city your first payment, with your car included, may be as low as $268 and your monthly payments $41.48.

Your present car will probably cover the entire first payment. The H. M. C. Purchase Plan offers the lowest terms available on the balance.

EASE OF OWNING

On our own streets Essex the Challenger, under competent observation, averaged 20 miles per gallon. The average owner in this city can expect 18 to 20 miles and upward. Commercial users operating large fleets of Essex cars say that service and maintenance costs, covering millions of miles of operation, are lowest of any car ever tested.
